Beauty and the beast: two very different airshow aircraft photographed by RICHARD PAVER at the Royal Navy Historic Flight's Charity Open Day at RNAS Yeovilton on September 13, 2008. Weatherworn (and soon-to-be-repainted) but characterful North American OV-10B Bronco G-BZGK/99+32, piloted by Tony De Bruyn on its first public outing, formates on the camera aircraft while Kennet Aviation's pristine Supermarine Seafire XVII G-KASX/SX336, flown by XXXXX XXXXXXXX peels away to port in the background.
